

For nearly a decade, I've been collaborating and releasing artwork with Red Hot Chili Peppers drummer Chad Smith. Beginning in 2019, the relationship expanded with the inclusion of famed art exhibition production company Road Show Company and later to Wentworth Galleries, a major chain of galleries on the east coast.

I try to keep an open mind to new ideas and interacting with Chad Smith has taught me a lot about marketing, art and business.

Taking part of a new step in technology and art concept. The image above is the Oculus in New York City.

I love working with the sales team. It brings me joy to be around the patrons and assisting in making their experience memorable.

BISHOP OF SEVENTH

Branding and Design

